Subject: Question re wolverine capture activities

Hi Diane - In the 2014 Management Plan for the Conservation of Wolverines in Idaho, on page 27, under the discussion of permits, it says at the end of that section "Two wolverine deaths have been documented as a result of live capture activities in Idaho over the past 20 years." Do you know (approximately) the number of captures that this includes over this time period? I know that might be very difficult to determine, but appreciate any estimate you might be able to provide.

Thanks for your time,
Betty
