Subject: Wolverine meeting in Denver 2/15-2/16
Date: Thursday, February 2, 2017 4:27:27 PM

Josh,

We're extending an invite, sorry for the short notice, to a wolverine meeting we are having in Denver at the RO on 2/15-2/16 (full days). We hope to have a few core team members there to discuss the biology, current condition, stressors, and lay out the groundwork for the remainder of our analysis. We will also be meeting w/ NOAA to discuss the snow modeling climate study they are doing.

It may not be critical to have someone from R8 there, especially given the short notice, but if you have a person in mind who should be there, please let them and me know so we can coordinate.

We will be scheduling a webinar update for the larger core team and other FWS wolverine folks sometime after the meeting to get everyone up to speed on where the analysis is going. Also, the NOAA presentation will likely be opened up to others via webinar, I'll send out details when I know more.

Thanks for the continued coordination w/ Betty and I on this as we inch forward.
