Thanks Steve. I just took a look at McKenzie County ND in relation to all the other wolverine occurrences we have (historical). There was another wolverine shot by a rancher on April 13, 1998 in Sheridan county Montana, only 60 miles away from the one shot in ND.

"Killed after attacking sheep and charging rancher. 43 inches long, 18 inches high."

I just googled the papers in ND and found the county where the Colorado wolverine was killed. Here is the location from the paper.

McKenzie County, North Dakota

Maybe another location for you.
