Okay, thanks for the update. I can take a look when I am back Thursday morning.

Hi Betty, I just worked with the guys from IHS to get a download of oil and gas wells that are currently in production. It's not GIS data, but I should be able to build it.

We can look at the site at some point and you may wish to try and get additional info.

I only selected active wells, figured if the well was abandon, capped, or considered out of production it would be an issue, but we can change that if needed.

Hope to have something to map soon.

Ed
