Thanks Rich for your reply. I understand and we will not share this.

Hi Betty,

Just got your phone message regarding sharing the wolverine harvest data. It is probably best to not share the data with other folks, but have them contact me directly instead. There is a bit of context that folks need to understand about the data before they use it.

Tony, feel free to drop me a line if you are interested in the harvest data (with all of its bumps and warts).

Rich
