

BASIC COMMUNICATIONS STRATEGY

FOR ROUTINE NON-CONTROVERSIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

SECTION I: GENERAL INFORMATION

1. Plan title: Southern Sierra Nevada Distinct Population Segment of Fisher Final Listing Determination
2. DTS number: 072164; Associated Federal Register DCN: FR00003749
3. What is the action triggering this communications plan? (Please explain in no more than three sentences)

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is announcing a final rule to list the Southern Sierra Nevada distinct population segment (DPS) of fisher as endangered under the Endangered Species Act (ESA).

In November 2019, the Service published a revised proposed rule to list the West Coast DPS of fisher as threatened under the ESA. Based on the most recent data and available information, the Service determined there are two distinct populations of fisher: the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS and the Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS.

The Southern Sierra Nevada DPS of fisher will be listed as endangered. The Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS is thriving and will not be listed under the ESA.

4. What is the proposed date for this action? Why has it been selected? Is it flexible?

April 25, 2020. This is a court-ordered deadline. The final rule must be submitted to the Federal Register by this date.

5. Which office is leading this communications effort and which other programs, regions or groups are involved?

Lead: IR10 - Yreka Fish and Wildlife Office (YFWO)

IR10 - Sacramento Fish and Wildlife Office (SFWO)

IR-10 – Reno Fish and Wildlife Office (RFWO)

IR10 - Regional Office

IR9 - Oregon Fish and Wildlife Office (OFWO)

SECTION II: GOALS AND MESSAGES

6. What story do we want to tell?

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service uses the best available scientific and commercial information to make ESA listing determinations. Based on the most recent data, the agency determined there are two distinct populations of fisher: the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS and the Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS.

While the Service is committed to conserving all native species, the agency ultimately determined that the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS of fisher warrants ESA listing. The Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS is thriving and does not warrant ESA protection.

7. What are our key messages? (These should be top concepts that readers should take away, including an understanding of why this action matters and why they should care, not a list of facts, which should be placed in the appendix. List no more than four!)

- This final rule is based on the best available scientific and commercial information for the species.
- Based on the most recent data and new information received during the public comment period, the Service determined that the formerly designated West Coast DPS should be evaluated as two separate DPS. (Northern California-Southern Oregon and Southern Sierra Nevada).
- The Southern Sierra Nevada DPS of fisher will be listed as endangered based on several factors including loss of habitat, small population size and limited distribution within a fragmented habitat.
- The Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS is not warranted for protection under the ESA due in part to its widespread distribution, resilience and ongoing conservation efforts on public and private timberlands within its range.
- The Service plans to propose critical habitat for the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS of fisher after a thorough information analysis can be completed.

APPENDIX: ADDITIONAL BACKGROUND INFORMATION AND MATERIALS

DO NOT PUT OTHER MATERIALS SUCH AS FAQs, NEWS RELEASE OR TALKING POINTS IN THIS SECTION. KEEP THOSE AS SEPARATE DOCUMENTS.

(Consider the following: What is the historical context? Does this relate to other issues that may not immediately be apparent (consider other programs and regions)? Is there a scientific basis to this issue? If so what is it?)

- On December 5, 2000, the Service received a petition to list the West Coast DPS of Pacific fisher as endangered under the ESA. The petition also asked the Service to designate critical habitat for the DPS.
- On July 10, 2003, the Service published a positive 90-day finding and initiated a 12-month status review.
- On April 8, 2004, the Service announced that the West Coast DPS of fisher was warranted for listing but precluded by higher priority actions. The West Coast DPS of fisher was added to the Service's candidate species list.
- On June 10, 2007, Sierra Forest Products, Inc., challenged the Service's April 8, 2004 12-month finding for the fisher by asserting that the Service failed to specify whether the West Coast DPS of fisher is a DPS of a species or a DPS of a subspecies.
- On June 6, 2008, the Eastern District Court of California announced that the Service's determination of the species' status was not arbitrary, capricious, an abuse of discretion, or otherwise not in accordance with law.
- On July 12, 2011, the Service reached an agreement (multi-district litigation with Center for Biological Diversity) to submit a proposed listing determination, or withdraw the warranted 12-month finding, no later than the end of the 2014 Fiscal Year.

- On October 7, 2014, the Service published a proposed rule (79 FR 60419) to list the West Coast DPS of fisher as a threatened species under the ESA. That proposal had a 90-day comment period, ending January 5, 2015.
- On December 23, 2014, the Service extended the proposal's comment period for an additional 30 days, ending February 4, 2015 (79 FR 76950).
- On April 14, 2015, the Service reopened the comment period and announced a 6-month extension of the final listing to acquire new information and comments regarding toxicants, rodenticides and survey information (80 FR 19953). That additional comment period ended May 14, 2015, and was conducted specifically to help assess distribution and population trends due to disagreement regarding the sufficiency or accuracy of the available data related to those issues.
- On April 18, 2016, the Service published a document in the Federal Register withdrawing the proposed rule to list the West Coast DPS of fisher (81 FR 22710), concluding that the stressors acting upon the DPS did not significantly impact the species at either the population or range-wide scales.
- On October 19, 2016, the Center for Biological Diversity, Environmental Protection Information Center, Klamath-Siskiyou Wildlands Center and Sierra Forest Legacy filed a complaint for declaratory and injunctive relief, alleging that the agency's determination on the West Coast DPS of fisher violated the ESA.
- On September 21, 2018, a summary judgment was issued. The District Court for the Northern District of California vacated the listing withdrawal and remanded the Service's final determination for reconsideration. The order gave the Service until March 22, 2019 to prepare a new rule.
- On November 20, 2018, the District Court for the Northern District of California granted the Services' request to extend the deadline to publish in the Federal Register either a withdrawal, final listing, or a revised proposed rule by September 21, 2019. Had this occurred, the Service had until March 21, 2020 to publish a final determination. The Service filed a motion for extension by 35 days for each date.
- On January 31, 2019, a 30-day public comment period was opened to solicit additional information on threats and conservation actions for the West Coast DPS of fisher. These, and all prior comments, were considered in the revised proposed listing rule.
- On May 17, 2019, the District Court for the Northern District of California granted the Services' request to extend the deadline 35 days, until October 26, 2019, for submitting to the Federal Register either a withdrawal, final listing, or a revised proposed rule.

- On November 7, 2019, a revised proposed rule to list the West Coast DPS of fisher was published, and the Service opened a 30-day public comment period. The agency evaluated new information available since 2014 and reconsidered the best available information already in its files (including all peer, partner and public comments received during previous comment periods as well as the two recent comment periods). The Service concluded that the West Coast DPS of fisher continued to meet the definition of a threatened species based on cumulative effects associated with multiple threats across the DPS's range.
- On December 19, 2019, the Service reopened the public comment period for an additional 15 days to allow the public more time to comment on the revised proposed rule.
- In February 2020, the Service evaluated new information received during the November and December 2019 and previous comment periods. Based on existing and new information, the agency determined that the singular 'West Coast DPS' of fisher should be evaluated as two separate DPS (the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS and the Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS).
- In March 2020, the final determination was made to list the Southern Sierra Nevada DPS of fisher as endangered; a not warranted finding was made for the Northern California-Southern Oregon DPS of fisher. The final rule will be submitted to the Federal Register by April 25, 2020.
