Team,

SpaceX will conduct test operations tomorrow between 1100-1500. This will require two separate localized Road Closures. The first test is a 'room temperature' pressure test and the second is a cryogenic pressure test. These tests have ended with debris in the refuge but the chance of fire or a large explosion is minimal. Given our overpressure data debris would not be able to reach the beach. As the county beaches are still closed per the Judge's order, impact to the civilian populace should be minimal.

Have a great evening.
