Savannah Coastal Refuges Complex

The chain of National Wildlife Refuges (NWR) that forms the Savannah Coastal Refuges Complex (Complex) extends from Pinckney Island NWR near Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, to Wolf Island NWR near Darien, Georgia. Between these lie Savannah (the largest unit in the Complex), Wassaw, Tybee, Harris Neck, and Blackbeard Island refuges. Together, they span a 100-mile stretch of coastline and total 59,326 acres. The Savannah Coastal Refuges are administered from the headquarters office located at the Savannah NWR Visitor Center in Hardeeville, South Carolina.

The primary objective of a National Wildlife Refuge is to provide habitat for the conservation and protection of all species of wildlife. The harvest of surplus animals is one tool used to manage wildlife populations. Carefully managed hunts maintain wildlife populations at a level compatible with the environment, provide recreational opportunities, and permit the use of a valuable renewable resource. Public hunting is permitted, in designated areas, on five of the seven Complex refuges: Blackbeard Island, Harris Neck, Pinckney Island, Savannah, and Wassaw NWRs. Hunters must obtain the current-year Complex hunt schedule for specific dates.
