

ENDANGERED SPECIES

ART EXHIBITION

The Arlington Ecological Services Field Office is proud to announce the third annual Endangered Species Art Show

Show is open to all K–12 grade students

Celebrate Endangered Species Day!
May 15, 2020

See reverse
for rules

Stephanie
Ocelot, California tiger salamander, and monarch butterfly

RIVER LEGACY
LIVING SCIENCE CENTER

Arlington Ecological Services Field Office
US Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior Region 6

Our mission is “to work with others to conserve, protect, and enhance fish, wildlife, plants, and their habitat for the continuing benefit of the American people”.

ENDANGERED SPECIES ART EXHIBITION GUIDELINES

Subject matter

Artwork should celebrate an animal that lives or migrates through the United States and its waters OR a plant or flower that is found in the United States. The main subject of the artwork should be an organism that is on the threatened/endangered species list, is considered a recovered species, or is considered a candidate species.

Inspiration for subject matter:

<https://www.fws.gov/endangered/species/us-species.html> <https://ecos.fws.gov/ecp0/reports/delisting-report>

<https://ecos.fws.gov/ecp/report/table/candidate-species.html>

<https://www.fws.gov/southwest/es/ArlingtonTexas/pdf/2019%20endangered%20species%20art%20exhibition%20submissions%20-%20508.pdf>

Artwork

Artwork MUST be original.

NO lettering, words, signatures, or other markings can be visible on submitted artwork. First name, grade, school, and species will be added by staff prior to display.

Submit a photo of your artwork

All submissions to be emailed to arles@fws.gov by May 15, 2020.

Include your first name, grade, school, and a brief description of your artwork. Digital submission must be high resolution, preferably at least 600 dpi. Accepted file types include: jpg, jpeg, tiff, and pdf.

Best works will be displayed at the River Legacy Living Science Center in August 2020

Depending on the number of submissions received, 3-4 works will be chosen to be printed and displayed to the public from the following age categories: K-2nd, 3rd-6th, 7th-9th, and 10th-12th. Works will be chosen based on quality and overall portrayal of the species. You will receive an email if your work is chosen. Best works will be displayed at River Legacy Living Science Center in the Discovery Room in August 2020. Go to www.riverlegacy.org for Discovery Room prices.

This exhibition is independently facilitated, separate from the Endangered Species Youth Art Contest facilitated by the Endangered Species Coalition. For art to be considered for submission to the Endangered Species Youth Art Contest, your artwork must follow the guidelines posted at www.endangered.org.

By submitting your artwork to the Endangered Species Art Exhibition, you agree to have a photo of your art published on the Arlington Ecological Services Field Office's website (<https://www.fws.gov/southwest/es/arlingtontexas>), along with your first name and school.

