Airboat Ride on Audubon Refuge

Building Bird Feeders with Youth

Planting Native Wildflowers

Audubon NWR provides food, water, shelter, and space for a variety of wildlife species. Refuge managers focus their efforts on managing the land to meet the needs of waterfowl and other migratory birds, threatened and endangered species, and resident wildlife.

Mallard Ducklings

Located in central North Dakota, Audubon NWR encompasses 14,735 acres of native prairie, planted grasslands, and wetlands.

Piping Plover

Audubon National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) is one of over 550 refuges in the National Wildlife Refuge System – a network of lands set aside and managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service specifically for wildlife.
