

Now Showing in the Art Gallery

Wildlife Images from my own little world by Scott Lanseidel opens September 1 and runs through October 31.

Welcome to the digital images captured within Scott's world. Eighty percent of the images in this show have been taken within 10 miles of the Bloomington Education and Visitor Center. It is amazing what can be found within a short distance of our homes.

Scott has lived in Bloomington for the past 21 years. Photography has been an off and on hobby of his since he went to North Dakota State University. While there, Scott studied photography while he worked his way through the architectural college. Although he has an architectural license, he does not practice, and has owned Techline Twin Cities designing home and business furniture to "fit" anyone's space and needs. Following his children through school sports and activities sparked Scott's photography hobby. Once they moved on, he found a new use for his camera along the Minnesota River Valley.

Scott encourages everyone to enjoy the beauty of nature within their own world, and to bring a camera so it can be shared.

An Artist Reception will be held on Sunday, September 1st from 2:30 - 4:30 pm.
