INTERNATIONAL
WILDLIFE
REFUGE ALLIANCE

Nestled amidst the southern Detroit metropolitan area, the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge (DRIWR) is a shining example of the resurgence of native species within an urban region. Established in 2001, the DRIWR includes 48 miles of Detroit River and western Lake Erie shoreline, stretching from southwest Detroit to Erie Marsh, north of Toledo. The Refuge has grown to over 5,000 acres.

Our priorities for the International Wildlife Refuge:

- Restore habitat for fish and wildlife
- Grow Refuge lands and partners through cooperative agreements and acquisitions
- Provide public opportunities for wildlife-compatible recreation and environmental education

The DRIWR is a new model for conservation: restoring habitat in an urban area through public-private partnerships. It is a blueprint for the revitalization of nature in urban centers across the nation.

Each year the Detroit River International Wildlife Refuge hosts over 300,000 diving ducks, 75,000 shorebirds, and several hundred thousand land birds that nest, rest, overwinter or migrate through the Refuge corridor.

The DRIWR is one of the best places in North America to watch hawks.

Canvasbacks congregate by the thousands on the Detroit River each fall.

Known as a world-class fishing hot spot, more than ten million walleye migrate through the Detroit River attracting thousands of anglers. It is known as the "Walleye Capital of the World" – hosting international walleye and bass tournaments offering millions of dollars in prize money.

The DRIWR is working with numerous partners to restore habitat for the lake sturgeon throughout the Detroit River.

The American lotus is the state symbol for clean water in Michigan. It grows within Great Lakes coastal marshes in the lower Detroit River and western Lake Erie.
