

The Potomac Pullers

We Need You!

The Potomac Pullers is an organized volunteer group focused on the control, management, and monitoring of non-native, invasive plant species to protect the Potomac River National Wildlife Refuge Complex.

The “Pullers” are looking for new members to:

- Learn how to identify invasive plants on the refuge.
- Map infestations using GPS technology.
- Participate in control efforts (hand-pulling, mowing, weed whacking, etc.)
- Monitor results of control efforts.
- Communicate observations with refuge biologist and staff.
- Increase public awareness through outreach.
