

Don't Shoot a Swan!

Trumpeter Swans are a protected species in Minnesota. Trumpeters are the largest species of waterfowl in the state. They have a wingspan of 7 feet in length. Their body and wings are all white with a black bill and black feet.

Trumpeter Swan photo courtesy
wildreturn via flickr

Snow Geese can be hunted in Minnesota. Snow Geese have a wingspan of 4-5 feet long. They have a white body, black wing tips, and a pink bill and feet.

Snow Goose photo courtesy
wikipedia

Don't shoot a swan. If you are unsure, don't take the shot.