Come and take a literary adventure at the Fort River Division Trail. There will be a new book featured every first of the month and on every third Saturday, now until October, there will be activity!

Bug Safari: Borrow a net and container or bring your own! Identify insects while you walk the trail and read the book. You can stop at the pollination station and make a pollinator hat or at the pond station to explore the world of aquatic macro-invertebrates. Wear clothes you don't mind getting a little messy. A roving ranger will help you identify critters.

Come and Play Outside!
