

Waterfowl Hunt frequently asked questions

- Can someone else register a unit for me?

Yes, but on the day of the hunt you must be one of the four people in the hunt party or no one can hunt. When you leave the hunt unit the whole hunt party must leave the unit.

- Can I register a hunt unit and hunt alone?

Yes, four people in a hunt party is the maximum number.

- Can I hunt with someone that registered a different unit within the same week?

Yes

- Can I launch from a different site?

We encourage you to use the suggested access points because they are the closest spots to launch from, but you can launch from another site if you wish. If you launch from private land make sure you have permission.

- If no one registers the unit next to mine can I hunt that one as well?

No

- Can I register more than one unit per week?

You can only register one unit per week. However on January 11th you may register one unit for that week and one for the following week. Even on the above mentioned dates you may not register for two units within the same week.

- If someone registers the same unit as mine in the same week and I plan to hunt with them my I leave my blind?

No, all blind material must be removed at the end of each hunt day.

- Can I scout even if I have not been selected for a hunt?

Yes, but you must have everything, on your person while scouting, that is listed under the Permit License Requirements section of the brochure.

- Can I take my dog with me while scouting?

No, your dog can only be on the refuge during the waterfowl hunt.
