

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 2015

MASONVILLE COVE BIOBLITZ

Come join experts to help find and record as many living organisms at Masonville Cove as possible in one day!

WHAT

A bioblitz is an all-day event where wildlife experts and community volunteers work together to find, identify and record as much wildlife as possible. At the Masonville Cove BioBlitz, we will learn about the plants and animals living in an urban wetland. We will be using iNaturalist, a community-based program, to help record as we explore biodiversity in our local environment and learn about actions we can take to protect wildlife through hands-on activities.

WHERE

Masonville Cove Environmental Education Center, Baltimore City

HOW

For more information or to register, please contact the National Aquarium Conservation team at 410-576-1014 or conserve@aqua.org.