

It's a Tie!

Two Lewistown students won the Charles M. Russell National Wildlife Refuge "Name the Bison" contest this year. Both Nathan Blackadar (above), who will be in the fourth grade at Garfield Elementary this fall, and Emily Bracha (below), who will start first grade at Highland Park Elementary, came up with the same winning name: Ginger. Matt deRosier, acting project leader at the refuge hands certificates to both students, as the bison watch from a distance.

Photo courtesy of Jackie Wichman

