

Rocky Mountain Arsenal

National Wildlife Refuge

Wildlife Drive and Trails Map

Welcome

Rocky Mountain Arsenal National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) is a 15,000-acre expanse of short and mixed grass prairie located northeast of Denver, Colorado. We invite you to enjoy the sights and sounds of the Refuge. More than 330 species of wildlife, including bald eagles, bison, black-footed ferrets, deer, coyotes, burrowing owls, and prairie dogs call the Refuge home. The Refuge also provides important feeding and nesting grounds for resident and migratory song birds.

To protect wildlife and habitat, visitor access is limited to designated trails and roads only. All other Refuge lands and staff roads are closed to visitor entry.

Wildlife Viewing

- Best viewing times are at sunrise and at sunset.
- Practice good wildlife viewing ethics by observing wildlife from a safe distance. Use binoculars or a camera for close up viewing.
- Park in designated areas shown on the map.
- Quietly observe wildlife.
- Service dogs are welcome and must be under leash control. All other pets are prohibited.
- Avoid stopping under birds and bird nests - this is stressful to hawks, owls, and young or nesting birds.

Wildlife Drive

- The Wildlife Drive is open to motorized vehicles, but is closed to bicycles and foot travel. Motorcycles and scooters are not recommended because of the bison. The Drive is 11 miles long and takes about 45 - 60 minutes to drive.
- Please take a Wildlife Drive and Trails Map with you and follow all Wildlife Drive symbols and directional arrows.
- Speed limit is 30 miles per hour on the Wildlife Drive.
- Wildlife Drive surfaces are paved or gravel.
- Stay in your vehicle while driving through the bison area. Signs and cattle guards mark entrance and exit of bison area. Bison are wild, unpredictable animals – do not try to attract their attention.
- Keep at least a 50 to 100 yard distance between your vehicle and the bison. If bison are blocking the road, wait until they move.
- The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is not responsible for damage to vehicles caused by wildlife.

Wildlife to Watch for Along the Way

- Resident Wildlife – Bison, mule and white-tailed deer, black-footed ferrets, red-tailed hawks, prairie dogs, coyotes, and rabbits.
- Migratory Wildlife – Waterfowl, shorebirds, wintering bald eagles, ferruginous and Swainson's hawks, and burrowing owls.

Hiking Trails

The Refuge has 10 miles of trails open year-round for hiking, cross country skiing, and snowshoeing. Trail surfaces are crushed gravel or dirt, and are accessible, except for the Prairie, Woodland, and sections of the Rod and Gun Club trails.

- Stay on marked trails and observe all posted signs and regulations.
- Hiking trails are for foot travel only.

Grassland Trails

Explore the trails that meander through native shortgrass prairie habitat. Throughout the seasons, you may observe mule and white-tailed deer, prairie dogs, migrating songbirds, and coyotes.

- Army Historic Trail (0.3 mi)
- Bluestem Loop Trail (1.3 mi)
- Bluestem Southwest Loop Trail (0.5 mi)
