- 1 Candidate species have no legal protection under the Endangered Species Act. However, these species are under active consideration by the Service for addition to the Federal List of Endangered and Threatened Species and may be proposed or listed during the development of the proposed project.
  - 2 The species occupies habitat in one or more hydrologic unit (8-digit HUC) within this county. In addition, water depletions from any portion of the occupied drainage basin may adversely affect the species or designated critical habitat of the endangered fish species, and must be evaluated with regard to the criteria described in the pertinent fish recovery programs.
  - 3 The species is not present in this county. However, water depletions from any portion of the occupied drainage basin may adversely affect the species or designated critical habitat of the endangered fish species, and must be evaluated with regard to the criteria described in the pertinent fish recovery programs
  - 4 This species is designated a non-essential, experimental population east of I-15 to 191, and south of I-70. Animals occurring outside the designated areas are protected as Endangered.
  - 5 Introduced, refugia population.
  - 6 Critical habitat designated in this county. Critical habitat shapefiles are available on <http://criticalhabitat.fws.gov>.
  - 7 Critical habitat proposed in this county.
  - 8 Non-essential, experimental population.
  - 9 Suitable habitat occurs in southern Duchesne County, including Nine-Mile and Argyle canyon.
  - 10 The species is not known to be present in this county, however a portion of this county is within the survey area as defined by the Utah Division of Wildlife Resources.
  - 11 Nests in this county of Utah.
