

2012 Treasure Coast Students Endangered Species Day Calendar Art Contest

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's office in Vero Beach, Fla. is celebrating Endangered Species Day by encouraging students to learn about threatened and endangered plants and animals through art. The Service is hosting an art contest open to all students grades 1-12 in public, private or home schools on the Treasure Coast (Indian River, Martin and St. Lucie Counties). To enter, the student will draw or paint, in an original artwork, a federally listed threatened or endangered species from south Florida.

For lists and pictures of these species go to: <http://www.fws.gov/verobeach>. Once there, click on the "South Florida Listed Species" button on the left side of the page and then choose a species from the birds, invertebrates, mammals, plants and reptiles shown.

Judges will pick 13 winners. There will be one winner per grade, plus an overall winner whose artwork will grace the calendar's cover. The other 12 winners' artwork will represent a month on our 2012 Endangered Species Calendar. Each of the 13 winners will receive a $100 U.S. Savings Bond. In addition, the overall winner will have his or her artwork framed and their school will be given a $150 gift card for science and/or art supplies. We'll contact the winners telephonically and announce them via our Web site (www.fws.gov/verobeach) on Endangered Species Day, which is May 18, 2012. Rules to Remember:

- The artwork must depict a live portrayal of a threatened or endangered species found in south Florida.
- Each piece of artwork can depict a single species or multiple species.
- The size of the artwork must be 8.5 x 11 and less than ¼ inch thick.
- Please write the student's name, grade, school, contact telephone number and e-mail address on the back of the artwork.
- Entries should not be matted, mounted, laminated, framed or folded.
- The artwork must be original and may not be traced or copied from other sources. Entrants may rely on photographs or published images as guides, but the artwork must be the participant's own original creation.
- No computers or other mechanical devices may be used to create artwork.
- The entry may be multi-color, black and white or a single color. It may be rendered in ink, paint, pastel, crayon or pencil.
- Only one entry per student is allowed.
- Entries will become property of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and be used for educational purposes. The student will be credited by name in any subsequent publication or use of their artwork. With the exception of the first place winner, none of the artwork submitted will be returned.
- No lettering, words, signatures or initials may appear on the front of the design.
- Entries must be postmarked by May 11, 2012 and sent to:
The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service
ATTN: Endangered Species Student Calendar Art Contest
1339 20th Street
Vero Beach, FL 32960-3559

For more information, contact Ken Warren at ken\_warren@fws.gov.